Godfrey St. Bernard is a Senior Research Fellow at the Sir Arthur Lewis Institute of Social and Economic Studies (SALISES) at the University of the West Indies (UWI) in St. Augustine, Trinidad and Tobago. He has worked extensively on advancing knowledge of demographic patterns in Caribbean countries and non-independent territories. In the early 1980s, he was employed as a statistician with the Central Statistical Office of Trinidad and Tobago. Born in Trinidad, his undergraduate training was at the UWI in Trinidad and Tobago and in 1992, he completed his Ph.D. in social demography at the University of Western Ontario in Canada. He has been an author to more than fifty (50) publications that can be found as peer-reviewed journal articles, book chapters, technical papers, papers in conference proceedings and non-peer reviewed journal articles.

He has served as a technical advisor to regional and international organizations across the globe and in 2012/2013 and is the mastermind and Coordinator of the Master of Science in Development Statistics offered in SALISES.
