

Dr. Natasha Ramkissoon-Babwah is a Lecturer of Entrepreneurial Studies at the Department of Management Studies, the University of The West Indies. Natasha also has 15 years of experience as an Entrepreneurship Development Consultant and her areas of expertise are programme evaluation, sectoral development, and innovation conceptualization for SMEs. Her clients have included the United Nations Development Programme and the Organization of The American States.

In recognition of her Expertise she was an advisor at the Ministerial Level of the Government of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago Sub-committee for Vision 2020 on Entrepreneurship and Industrial Development and was selected as an International Delegate to represent the country at the 3rd Inter-American Dialogue of High –Level Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises on Public Policies to Promote the Internationalization of MSMEs hosted by the Organization of the American States. Her research interest includes business incubation, entrepreneurship policy and experiential entrepreneurship education strategies.

Mr. Julian Henry is an Alumnus of the University of the West Indies having graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Agribusiness Management in 1997.

He is currently employed at UWI St. Augustine as the Programme Manager of the Entrepreneurship Unit in the Department of Management Studies and is currently involved in several UWI committees and campus initiatives to develop innovation and entrepreneurship. Amongst the projects that is currently working on is the operationalizing and development of UWI Ventures Limited, a UWI spin out that was recently established to develop UWI projects, innovations and IP that have high commercial potential.

Julian has also provided consulting services for other entities in the region including AXCEL Finance, a regional small business-lending institute, has worked as a Senior Manager for Microfin Caribbean, a Subsidiary of Development Finance Limited for several years, and is a past CEO of the National Entrepreneurship Development Company (NEDCO).